The positions will be: National President, National Secretary, National Treasurer, National Archivist, four club delegates and one delegate representing the host club for the following National Show.

RARITY

This is in reality a very definitive concept yet one which is abused and not fully understood. How do you rate a one known item alongside a five known, or a five known alongside a ten known, etc? See National Rule no 13 for rarity ratings.

CONDITION

This relates to the general condition of the exhibit. Is it mint, scratched, dirty etc? Judges should treat rarity and condition quite separately.

DISPLAY AND INFORMATION

Eye appeal is a strong factor here. Has the collector made an effort to make the display attractive and to show the items to their best advantage? Cards with information about the item, rarity and a bit of history, etc. are essential. All bottles must be labelled and numbered. "Go-withs" can also improve a display. The best displays are often the most simple. After all, people are looking at the exhibits, not the display itself.

VARIETY

Just as collection types vary, so do category types, to meet the many variations at shows. Variety is best defined as attempting to show a broad spectrum of bottles within a category, e.g. just South Island Ginger Beers. Judges have yet to decide whether this kind of specialization is acceptable and whether or not variety points should be deducted. However always consider the range of bottles within a category – glass/stoneware, size and shape, different types of bottles, (most important in general categories) colour, size, patent variety, pictorial and non-pictorial. Consider the following example for New Zealand Codds. Variety can be found in size (7oz, 10oz, and 26oz), colour (aqua, blue, green, coloured lips), patent variety (codd, hybrids, patent safe valve etc). pictorial early codds etc.
